Customer Reviews

First let me say, I loved the writing. Dark erotica is one of my favorite genres. Few authors, in my opinion, do it well. This would have been a 4 star read for me if the main character was older. Nora(h) has just turned 18 years old. A few days after her high school graduation, Julian(H), a 29 year old man, kidnaps Nora and takes her to his private island. Julian keeps Nora captive on his island for approximately 15 months. In those months Nora is repeatedly raped, kept isolated, controlled, and psychologically and sexually conditioned. I have an 18 year old child. I have spent sometime around 18 year olds and I consider them to be children. They act like them. The thought of this scenario happening to any 18 year old I know just killed the "erotic" aspect of this book for me and became just wrong on so many levels. I realize, by the other reviews, that I am one of the few that has this issue with Nora's age. Nora's response to her circumstances was far beyond her years. I liked how she was written. I liked how she responded to her circumstances. She seemed believable to me. She just did not seem believable as an 18 year old. Nora's character should have been written older. She acted like a much older experienced woman, not the young, sheltered, and inexperienced girl she was described or written as. Once at Julian's private island home, Nora is introduced to Beth, the only other inhabitant of the island. I truly hated Beth. I felt no empathy for her. Yes, I empathized with the horrors of her past. I just do not think those horrors justified her attitude towards, and treatment, of Nora. Beth is the caretaker of the home. She is also responsible for taking care of Nora when Julian is away. Beth is a 37 year old woman and old enough to be Nora's mother.
